Objective: Students will draw, dictate, or write in a journal each day.

Resources Needed: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Notebook/Journal or loose sheets of paper ● Pencil, crayons, or markers ● Teacher may provide an online resource for responses ● Alphabet page ● Journal Topics or prompts: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● How do you show someone you love them? ● How does learning something hard make you feel?

Introduction/Description: Children will respond to prompts or write about choice events or topics of importance to them. Children will write sentences to tell their ideas. Please encourage the child to do their own best spelling, but provide help as needed to prevent frustration on the most challenging words, like names or places.

Steps: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Together, choose a topic of interest or use a prompt from the resources list. ● Ask the child to tell you the ideas before writing. This will help them organize their thoughts before putting them on the paper. ● Give the child plenty of time to work, encouraging their own best spelling when possible ● When the child completes the writing and picture, have them reread or re-tell it to you. ● Ask them about details in their pictures that go with the words or sentences they wrote.

Finished Product: The child will have a collection of writing responses that can be shared with the teacher.

Adaptations: Students may draw and label Ask questions that get the child to add more and more details into their pictures. Ask questions that encourage the child to attempt more independent writing and more details next time. Use lined paper or unlined paper as the child is comfortable with the space. Draw lines for each word of the sentence they want to write using good spacing and word length. Use the
